
FameLab

FameLab is a stand-up science competition with its roots in England. The goal is to explain a scientific topic in an entertaining way within three minutes, without the use of audio-visual technology. Permitted aids are only those that the contestants can bring to the stage themselves and also take away after the performance.

More information on FameLab

