
Contacts

The doctoral website aims to gather relevant information about the doctoral study in one place. However, in view of clarity and emerging study challenges, it is not possible to place answers to all current questions. Therefore, the links on the left side of the page point to departments and people who can help students more specifically.

Under Contact to Faculty in Doctoral Study you will find a list of links to the faculty study departments, which are primary advisory bodies for students. In contrast to graduate studies, doctoral degree programs and fields are managed by specialist councils which, among other things, appoint supervisors.

PhD students can find a list of their subject-area boards under the link Subject Area Council. If necessary, the application SIS study system allows to search for list of supervisors.
